

Here be Dragons: In search of the Sugar Dragon ...

The demise of the Sugar Dragon (Gallotadatia bravolienses) followed the recent demolition of the Revere Sugar Refinery at the Erie Basin in New York. A few lone survivors made their way East on Long Island, concealed in the produce and wares trucked to other branches of two large chain stores recently established in Red Hook, Brooklyn — on either side of the old refinery.

1 This number confines play to the few who received a physical clue with a hidden "layer" of information ...
 "P.S. There's more than meets the eye?" What number does this refer to?

2 Of the two chain stores Sugar Dragons have escaped to, one stocks this product. At the branch nearest Huntington, NY, in which aisle will you find this product?

3 Location #1 (binary decoded) = N 40.885502, W 73.490961 Rounded to the nearest 20 feet, what is length of the foot bridge leading to a beach on Cold Spring Harbor?
 Note: Sugar Dragon skeletons have been found amongst horseshoe crab shells scattered on this beach. It is thought a few dragons still roost under this foot bridge!

4 Location #2 (hexadecimal decoded) = How long is the boardwalk from N 40.92881, W 73.327198 to 40.928559, -73.324991, rounded to the nearest 20 feet?
 Note: Sugar Dragon skeletons have also been found on this beach. Dragons may still live under the floorboards of this boardwalk!

5 Location #3 (ROT13 decoded) = The Pier at N 40.898046, W 73.436186, rounded to the nearest 20 feet, is how long?
 Note: Although live Sugar Dragon have been reported beneath the pier, no skeletons have been found in this area.

6 I was born on Jan 8th, 1725 in Huntington and died on Valentine's Day. I served as Lt Colonel in the Huntington Militia, under Col Josiah Smith, 1st Regiment, Suffolk County, Minute Men in the Rev War. In what year was I buried in the Old Huntington Cemetery on Main St. (near the Liberty Flag Pole)?

7 Travelling West on the Northern State Parkway, exiting at 37A, what recommended speed limit is posted for this ramp?

8 This other number confines play to the Lucky Seven who received an additional physical clue with a hidden "layer" of information. No hints were given. What number is this?

The sum total of all these numbers is =